

Graphic Organizer Activity

4

Personal Development

Directions: Becoming an adult involves much more than becoming physically mature. Adolescents change and develop in at least three different areas. Complete the graphic organizer by listing the three areas of personal development that characterize adolescence. Beneath the box for each area is the name of a psychologist who has studied that area of development. List the ideas of the psychologists in the boxes connected to their names.

